Beauty pageant is a form of standardization of beauty and it's harmful

R

- beauty pageant put focus only to slim, white, long legs, hairless body, good shape, tall, and etc.
- beauty pageant is a pretty big competition that have been held for years. Where the beauty standsr is differ but one things never change. Sth like white, slim, tall, non-asian and etc. Even though lately there is several non white and asian won this competition, but it's still not enough to represent the beauty itself. Also cause it's a big competition that supported by a lot of countries, it's so easy to send this standardization and applied globally.

1. Create a standardization how to be beautiful

- woman will always feel insecure, try so hard to fulfil this standardization.
- Woman will be pressed by man, their friends, and the society how to be an elegant and beautiful woman.
- people who work in fashion and besuty stuff will always be pressed to do this. To keep slim and etc.

E

Models who works in fashion can get anorexia cause of this pressure. Even it's the risk of their jobs, but cause even after they works, they already got the effect and in other cases, they are too scare to back to normal cause people will label this ex model to stay as model and too scare to get the bullies cause they know being fat are not good.

At the end of the day rhis pageant leads to standardization that harmful

2. One of the form of supporting patriarchy

- standardization to the man itself. How man see beautiful woman, how man push and give pressure, and etc
- man will see woman as object of sexualization.

Disclaimer : this kind of pageant also exist for man but there's different that actually should be explain in the first time hehe.

A

Beauty pageant as a part of support to woman

R

- beauty pageant as a form of self expression. Woman who basically has more interest in beauty and etc can use the pageant to express and compete. Showing their skill and passion. Also, showing how woman can be strong, expressive, talented, unique, and different from other woman.

- beauty pageant as a platform to show how every area and continent have different standard of beauty. As this platform as a pageant that represent area and continent, the winner also will be the representative of the global. The woman can show how africa woman looks like, how is the culture, how they dress up, and can come closer to other country to show this message since we know the winners will start to visit the other places. As a winner and representative that can promote their own culture more

The winner that came from africa, can show how black woman also can be beautiful. How black woman also can show how it's matter for their own country's woman (characterized as country with pretty high woman assault and harassment) can be independent and have power and ofc important

At the end of the day, it's all so benefits to woman itself.

:)

Still lack of explanation but sorry :(
